GERMAN FREEDOM PRAISED

More for People, However, in Democratic Rule, Dr. Neumann Admits.
German ideas of freedom were praised by Dr. Henry Neumann, head of the Brooklyn Society for Ethical Culture, in an address at the Brooklyn Academy of Music yesterday. He admitted, however, that there was more to be gained by the people as a whole under the democratic principle of government than from a henevolent autocravy such as he believes is being enjoyed by the Germans.

"Carl Schurz wisely said that the American people might not have become the energetic people that they are to-day if there had been a police captain or a privy councillor at every mudpuddle to keep them from walking into it," he said.
